

SPUF Part D Analysis Brief

Date: April 22, 2026

Executive summary

Decomposition is required for credible interpretation: 2025Q4 to 2026Q1 shows high churn.

Top story set: repricing vs churn, generic access friction, sponsor clusters, PBM channel profile.

Repricing vs churn metrics

2025Q3_to_2025Q4: matched=94.48%, add/drop=5.52%, repriced/matched=69.73%

2025Q4_to_2026Q1: matched=59.81%, add/drop=40.19%, repriced/matched=95.79%

Sponsor segment counts

churn_dominant: 111

mixed_high_activity: 110

mixed_moderate: 20

repricing_dominant: 185

Beneficiary-tier linkage note

Upper-tier deductible-share shifts are visible in derived joins, with cost fields requiring validation.

Best website stories

- 1) Repricing vs churn in Part D
- 2) Generic access friction despite stable same-NDC pricing
- 3) Sponsor behavioral clustering
- 4) Generic coverage contraction signals
- 5) PBM network/channel fingerprints